

IFS Corporate Membership

IFS is the UK's leading economic think tank. We have an unrivalled reputation for analysis of the highest quality and for comment of unquestioned independence. That is why we are so influential.

Our research is designed to promote good policy, by increasing our understanding of the way in which changes in policy and the economy affect individuals, families, firms and governments. The state of the public finances, the structure of the tax system, productivity of UK companies and the effect of spending cuts on public services are just a few of the issues on which we are the leading researchers and thinkers.

All organisations will be affected by current and future government economic policies and it is only by understanding the issues and gaining access to key decision-makers that they can contribute to the solutions. IFS provides a unique forum for the debate and analysis of these topics and for the development and dissemination of policy responses.

Corporate Membership of the IFS provides your organisation with:

- insight into public policy issues including bespoke private presentations;
- behind the scenes access to public policy debate;
- profile as an organisation with input into the policy debate.

All of this will help your organisation to contribute to policymakers' understanding of the needs of UK organisations.

“ There's no-one better to go to on this kind of issue than the IFS. Their independence is beyond doubt as all the main political parties recognise their expertise. ”

Evan Davis, BBC

“ The Institute for Fiscal Studies is the great truth-teller ”

Polly Toynbee, The Guardian

“ The much respected independent institute for Fiscal Studies. ”

George Osborne

“ The IFS, almost uniquely, blends truly rigorous academic thinking with practical insight into how governments can and should apply that thinking. Its beneficial impact on UK tax and economic policy cannot be overstated. ”

William Morris, Senior International Tax Counsel and Director, European Tax Policy, General Electric

“ Thank heavens, then, for the Institute for Fiscal Studies, which sheds so much light on the subject. ”

Sir Samuel Brittan, Financial Times

Organisations have the option of a Corporate or Gold Membership

Corporate Membership

Annual membership fee:
£5,000

Insight into public policy issues

- Five free places at all charged events.
- Reduced rate attendance for all other staff of the company.
- One free copy of all IFS publications produced in hard copy.
- Discounts on all additional copies of publications.
- Free subscription to our quarterly journal, Fiscal Studies.
- Corporate members' electronic update.

Access to the policy debate

Invitations to private presentations by IFS staff, such as:

- Supporting members will be invited to a private presentation of the main analyses of our annual Green Budget. The Green Budget is recognised as the most important independent analysis of the options facing the Chancellor.
- An annual half-day event directed exclusively at supporting members where the IFS Director and senior staff present the results of recent IFS analyses of interest to corporations – for example, on pension reform, corporate, indirect and direct tax policy, public spending and public service reform.
- A private presentation of our Budget analysis.

Invitation to an Annual Private Dinner/
Breakfast with high-profile guest speaker

- No more than eight other supporting members will be present at this select event.
- Edward Troup (Director-General, Tax and Welfare, HM Treasury) and Professor David Miles (Monetary Policy Committee) have agreed to speak at the next two events.

Profile as an organisation with input into the policy debate

- Listing as a corporate member on the IFS website.
- Recognition supports your organisation's commitment to corporate social responsibility.

Gold Corporate Membership

Annual membership fee:
£10,000

All the benefits of Corporate Membership, plus:

- Free attendance for up to seven staff of the company at charged events including our prestigious residential conference.
- A private individual briefing once a year with the IFS Director or Deputy Director at the member's office with local staff on topics of member's choice.
- The opportunity for the Director or Deputy Director to participate as a guest speaker at an event organised by the company.
- Invitation to a private dinner following the Annual Lecture. Recent Annual Lectures have been given by Dr Vince Cable MP and Professor Tim Besley. The dinner is attended by the speaker and leading members of the IFS Council.

If you would like further information regarding corporate membership or if you would like to speak with IFS Director Paul Johnson, please contact us on 020 7291 4800

or email

members@ifs.org.uk

IFS is a registered charity, number 258815
Registered in London as a company limited by guarantee, number 954616